Minerva and Venus are inspired by the goddesses of Roman mythology. All characters and stories in this book are fictional.

Meet the Goddesses

Goddess Paper Dolls • Wisdom & Beauty

Minerva

Goddess of Wisdom
Loves: books, stargazing & plum heels
Sidekick: Sage the snowy owl
Motto: Wisdom Before Wealth

Venus

Goddess of Beauty & Love
Loves: pearls, roses & dancing
Sidekicks: Coco & Bijou the doves
Motto: Be kind, be bright, be you

Meet the Goddesses

Minerva, goddess of wisdom, has traded her marble temple for a sunny city loft, a library card and a snowy owl named Sage. Venus, goddess of beauty and love, believes every day deserves a little sparkle and every friend deserves a compliment. This week, the two best friends are living their best life in the modern age, and you're invited. Grab your scissors and turn the page!

How to Play

Goddess Paper Dolls • Snip, Fold & Style

1. Ask an adult to help with the scissors. Safety first, style second!
2. Cut out each doll along the dotted line. For sturdier dolls, glue her onto thin cardboard before cutting.
3. Cut out her stand, snip the short red slit, and slide it onto the slit in the doll's base so she stands tall.
4. Cut out the outfits carefully and keep the white tabs attached.
5. Fold the tabs along the dashed lines, behind the doll, to dress her.
6. Mix and match shoes, bags and treasures, and share accessories between the goddesses.
7. Bonus: little Sage the owl is peeking out on the story pages. Can you find him every time?

Sunday Night

On a rooftop above the city, Minerva opened her planner and Venus opened a bag of popcorn. "Seven days," said Minerva. "Brunch, a trip, a gala, a sunrise workout, book club and the beach." "And sparkle," Venus added. Sage the owl hooted in agreement. The week of a lifetime was about to begin.

Goddess Paper Dolls • The Doll

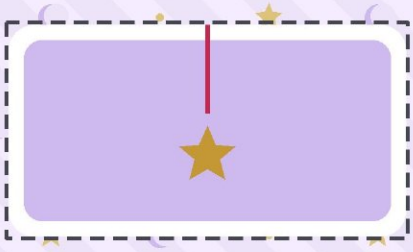

Monday, 7 a.m.

Minerva wakes before her alarm, as wise women often do. She sips her latte, smooths her golden waves and reads three pages of a good book before checking a single message. "Start the day with your own thoughts," she tells Sage, "before the world hands you theirs." Sage blinks slowly. He agrees completely.

Goddess Profile

Goddess of: Wisdom
Signature colors: purple, plum & gold
Favorite place: a library at midnight
Superpower: asking great questions

Doll stand: cut out, snip the red slit, slide onto the doll base

Goddess Tip

Wisdom isn't knowing everything. It's staying curious about everything.

Did you know?

In ancient myths, Minerva's symbol was the owl, a sign of wisdom and watchfulness.

City Work

Brunch Date

Monday: Work & Brunch

In her plum blazer and pencil skirt, Minerva leads the morning meeting with calm, clear ideas, and she thanks the new intern by name. By noon she has slipped into a lilac satin blouse and cream trousers for brunch with Venus. "You were brilliant today," Venus says. Minerva smiles. Kind words, she thinks, are a treasure worth more than gold.

Goddess Tip

Dress for the day you want to have, then show up for it.

Did you know?

Minerva was also the goddess of crafts and weaving, so she'd love that you're making this book your own.

Gala Night

Tuesday & Wednesday: Jet-Set & Gala

On Tuesday the goddesses jet off to a seaside museum gala. Minerva travels in a camel trench and a silk scarf, with three books in her carry-on, of course. Wednesday night she glides in wearing amethyst sequins and her gold owl brooch. When a guest asks how she stays so confident, Minerva laughs. "I stopped waiting to feel ready. I just started."

Goddess Tip

Confidence is a habit, not a mood. Practice it a little every day.

Did you know?

Legend says Minerva was born fully grown, so of course she's always ready.

Goddess Paper Dolls • Thursday & Friday

Sunrise Gym

Book Club

Thursday & Friday: Gym & Book Club

Thursday means sunrise stretches in a violet track set. Minerva isn't the fastest on the trail, but she always finishes. On Friday evening she hosts book club in a plum cardigan, plaid skirt and cozy boots. Twelve friends, one fireplace, a hundred opinions. "Every book is a mirror," she says, "and every friend shows you a new angle."

Goddess Tip

Strong is a feeling, not a size. Move because you love your body.

Did you know?

Wise people stretch their minds the way athletes stretch their muscles: a little, every day.

Goddess Paper Dolls • Treasures & Sage

Minerva's Treasures

Every goddess needs her treasures. Sage the snowy owl rides along everywhere, guarding the moon clip, the telescope and Minerva's favorite stack of books. Mix and match the bags, heels and jewelry with any outfit. A smart accessory is like a smart idea: small, well chosen, and it changes everything.

Goddess Tip

Choose quality over quantity: in shoes, in books and in friends.

Did you know?

Owls can turn their heads about 270 degrees. Sage uses this to spot a sale from across the mall.

VENUS

Goddess Paper Dolls • The Doll

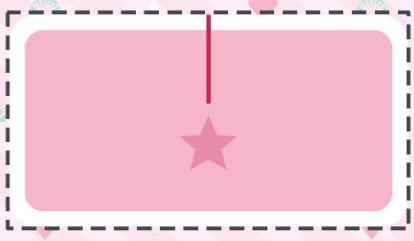

Meet Venus!

While Minerva plans, Venus sparkles. She greets every morning with a smile in the mirror and a kind word for herself: "Hello, gorgeous. Let's be gentle with you today." Her rose-gold waves catch the light, her doves Coco and Bijou coo at the window, and her calendar is full of the people she loves most.

Goddess Profile

Goddess of: Beauty & Love
Signature colors: pink, pearl & seafoam
Favorite place: a beach at golden hour
Superpower: making everyone feel seen

Doll stand: cut out, snip the red slit, slide onto the doll base

Goddess Tip

Self-love isn't vanity. It's the foundation every friendship is built on.

Did you know?

In myth, Venus rose from the sea foam on a scallop shell, which is why she adores seafoam and pearls.

VENUS

Goddess Paper Dolls • Monday & Tuesday

Brunch Date

Jet-Setter

Monday & Tuesday: Brunch & Jet-Set

Monday brunch is Venus's favorite ritual. In her floral sundress and pearl belt, she orders strawberry pancakes and a compliment for everyone at the table. On Tuesday she boards the plane in a pink tweed jacket and seafoam trousers, already chatting with the crew. "Strangers," Venus says, "are just friends who haven't heard my laugh yet."

Goddess Tip

Say the compliment out loud. You never know whose day you're saving.

Did you know?

The white dove is one of Venus's symbols, standing for love and peace.

Goddess Paper Dolls • Wednesday & Thursday

Gala Night

Sunrise Gym

Wednesday & Thursday: Gala & Gym

At the gala, Venus wears pearl-pink satin with a seashell neckline, and the whole room turns to look. But she spends the night cheering loudest for Minerva's speech. Thursday at sunrise she's in seafoam leggings, laughing through every lunge. "Beauty," she puffs, "is mostly showing up for yourself, even when it's early."

Goddess Tip

Celebrate your friends' wins like they're your own. Joy multiplies.

Did you know?

The planet Venus is the brightest planet in our night sky.

VENUS

Goddess Paper Dolls • Saturday

Beach Day

Night Out

Saturday: Beach Day & Night Out

Saturday is a beach getaway: a seafoam swimsuit, a coral sarong and toes in the sand. Minerva reads under the umbrella while Venus collects seashells. That night they dance across the city, Venus shining in hot-pink sequins. "Promise me something," she says. "Never shrink yourself to fit a room. Go find a bigger room."

Goddess Tip

Never shrink yourself to fit a room. Find a bigger room.

Did you know?

Roses and myrtle were sacred to Venus in ancient Rome.

VENUS

Goddess Paper Dolls • Treasures & Doves

Venus's Treasures

Venus treasures pearls, roses and the scallop shell she rode in on, long, long ago. Coco and Bijou, her white doves, deliver little love notes to friends. Share her heart sunglasses, pearl clutch and beach tote with Minerva, because the best things in life are even better when they're shared.

Goddess Tip

Share your treasures. The best things in life are better together.

Did you know?

Friday is named for a goddess of love in many languages, like 'vendredi' in French, from Venus.

Psst! The cut-out pieces are on the other side of this page.

FRIENDS

Goddess Paper Dolls • Pets & Goodies

Friends & Goodies

Friends, pets and goodies for both goddesses! Velvet the Persian cat adores book club, Biscuit the puppy lives for the beach, and little Pip the owlet is learning to hoot from Sage. Coffee for two, a croissant to split, flowers just because. Little treats, shared often, make an ordinary week feel magical.

Goddess Tip

Rest is productive, too. Even goddesses need a cozy Sunday.

Did you know?

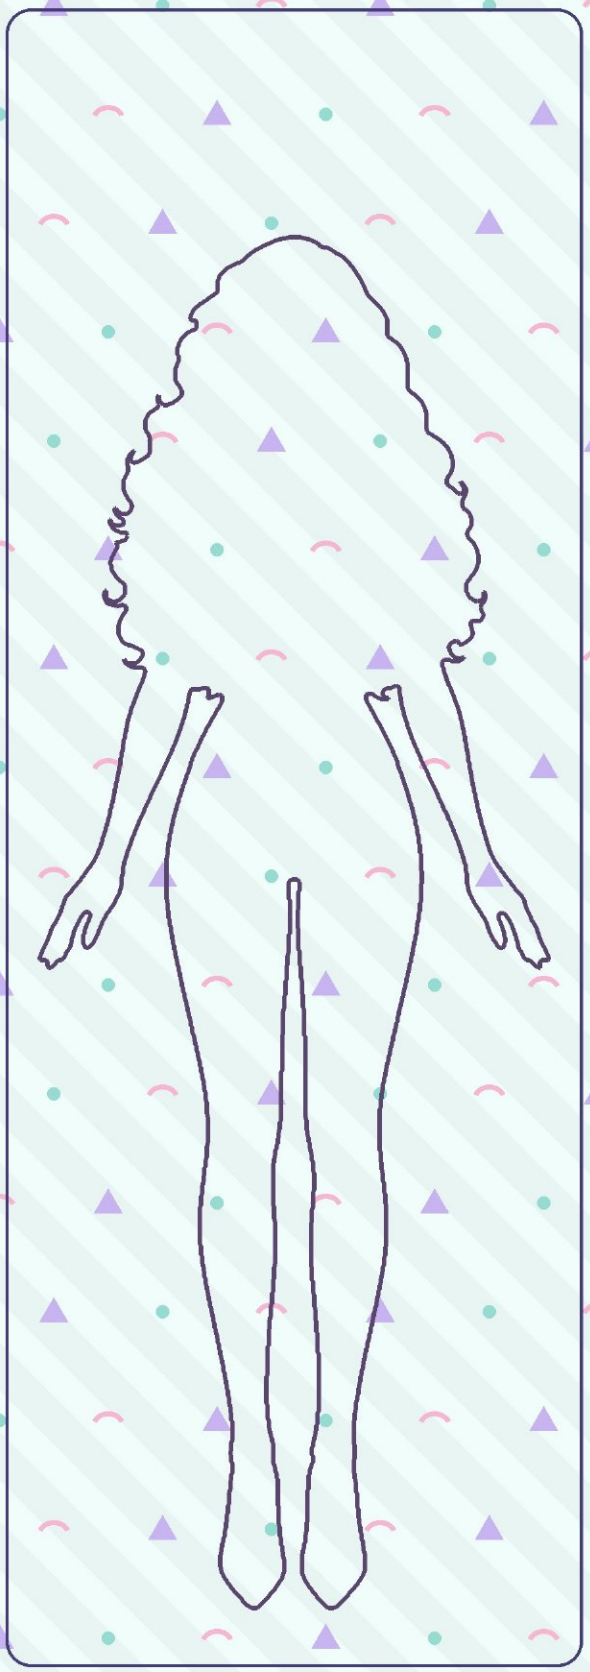

Sunday is named for the Sun, the perfect day to shine.

The End

Goddess Paper Dolls • Until Next Time

Sunday Evening

Back on the rooftop, the city glows. Sage dozes on the railing and the doves tuck in their wings. "This week I learned something," Minerva says. "Wisdom is better with laughter." Venus squeezes her hand. "And beauty is better with wisdom." Two goddesses, best friends, living their best life. And now, so are you.
